Sal-

I never received a po# for these 4,000+ water jet-cuts plus the additional labor to paper-wrap and then package them? CMS needs time to prepare for everything and nothing can happen on our end without your po#. Our die board supplier can build the flat-bed cutting die (for use on CMS's new die cutter scheduled to deliver and be fully-operational by the end of the week of 7/13) for $1400; Our Plant Mgr will be on-site for training an material runoff on Monday, 7/6.

As a final option, if CMS were able to produce a proprietary, insulative material just for TSS that was dust-free, easily recyclable in standard recycling systems, dark grey in color, and contained at least the same 85% recycled content as the Denim insulation, would Hello Fresh consider it? If so, by eliminating all the added costs of poly-coated paper facings, labor to wrap, etc... What material $/sqft target + die-cutting cost ($0.26/ea flat-bed or $0.15/ea rotary die cutter) you could work with to win this business from Bonded Logic? I was estimating somewhere in the $0.43+/sqft range...

Did I mention this new material is highly compressible (similar to urethane foam) and could also be a cost-effective solution to those for your Kangaroo mailers you asked me to look at? When you get a few minutes, I would like to personally discuss this exciting material option with you? Thanks!
